

Methodist Women's Missionary Conference Will Open in Richmond for Session of Week

MISS BELLE H. BENNETT, L. D. D., President Southern Society.

MRS. LEE HUFF, Vice-President Virginia Society.

MISS LETICIA ROBERTS, Vice-President Southern Society.

Richmond will be the scene of the eleventh annual meeting of the Women's Missionary Council of the Southern Methodist Episcopal Church, beginning Wednesday, April 12, and continuing until the following Wednesday.

The conference is one of the most important of the kind that has been held in many years, and delegates from all over the South, in the territory from Maryland to California and from the Ohio River south to the Gulf of Mexico, in addition, there will be many other delegates from countries all over the world present.

Among the most important business before the conference will be the appointment of missionaries to their various places of work throughout the entire territory covered by the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

Delegates have already begun to arrive and are making their headquarters at the Richmond Hotel, which will be used for that purpose throughout the convention.

The Southern Methodist Church maintains fields of missionary operation in China, Japan, Africa, Brazil and Mexico. It also has its home missionaries doing work in all the territory embraced by the church in the United States.

Many prominent figures in Southern Methodism will be in Richmond to attend the council, among whom will be Bishop J. W. Lambuth, Bishop Moore and Bishop Stutz.

Between 500 and 600 women and men from various parts of the United States will take part in the conference, and ten missionaries just returned from foreign fields will be on hand.
